The Turning Point

The turning point in many a farmer's or business man's history is the moment when he and his banker come to a perfect understanding.

With character, capacity, and some capital, the other essential to success, CREDIT, is easily attained.

The officers of the MONROE CITY BANK desire to know the business men and farmers of this community in order that they may become acquainted with the character, capacity and resources, and be in position to add to their enterprise the co-operation which a conservative bank is permitted to give.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL LEADERS OF MISSOURI

Is Big Convention at St. Joseph, Nov. 18, 19 and 20.

No church in St. Joseph is big enough to accommodate the forty-eighth annual convention of the Missouri Sunday School Association, so large has this gathering become. St. Joseph's Auditorium, Fourth and Farnon streets, will be used for the mass sessions each morning and evening, when the entire body will meet together.

Auditorium, St. Joseph, Fourth and Farnon Streets, Home of Convention.

The afternoon sessions will be devoted to conference work—a real school of methods—where the workers will be given instruction in practical plans and methods by experts of international reputation. For instance, the elementary workers will study their particular problems, the teenage workers their needs, etc.

Uplifting as will be the inspirational addresses, the most helpful feature of the convention will be these separate conferences. There will be sections for elementary, teenage and adult workers, county and township officers, superintendents, pastors and officers, college, college students, etc. Three or four nearby churches and the Y. M. C. A. building will be used for these sessions.

No expense has been spared in bringing to Missouri the leading Sunday School experts of the country, as well as of our own state.

Mr. W. C. Pearce, of Chicago, is perhaps the outstanding figure of all. Formerly a leading lawyer of Illinois, Mr. Pearce has for years given his entire time to Sunday school work. As the head of the International adult Bible class department, he has perhaps done more to help one man in the world to bring men and women into active Sunday school work. He is now associate general secretary, International Sunday School Association. Mr. Pearce will be an inspirational speaker and adult specialist.

W. C. PEARCE.
Adult Specialist.

Other leaders will be Mr. John L. Alexander, secondary division superintendent International Sunday School Association, Chicago, teenage specialist; Mrs. Phebe A. Curtis, elementary superintendent of the Ohio Sunday School Association, Columbus, elementary specialist; Prof. W. S. Athearn of Drake University, Des Moines, Ia., educational specialist; Mrs. Katharine Willard Eddy, dean of the Woman's Training School, Kansas City, Kansas, missionary specialist; Dr. D. J. Evans, William Jewell College, Liberty, daily Bible hour; Dr. J. H. George, Drury College, Springfield; Mr. William H. Danforth, St. Louis, and many others will be on the program.

A great parade is scheduled for the first evening, when several thousand men will be in line.

A most complete exhibit of equipment, material, supplies, etc., will be displayed.

The first county recognition service proved very popular last year. It will be repeated this year. The delegates will stand by counties, the spokesman giving number of delegates present, number of schools in county, and pledge for next year. Fifty-seven counties were represented at Kansas City—more will be at St. Joseph.

Two thousand delegates from outside of St. Joseph are expected to attend. The 2-cent fare makes the expense very reasonable. Detailed information and program may be had of Missouri Sunday School Association, Fullerton building, St. Louis.

Senator Reed and the Currency Bill.

Some of Senator James A. Reed's warmest friends among the Missouri newspaper editors have been inclined to find fault with his attitude toward the currency bill so speedily passed by the Democratic House. While the Journal has not indulged in personal criticism, it has, it must confess, been impatient with senators who have stood in the way of prompt action, believing that it was best to pass a bill, if not entirely perfect, in response to universal demand, for a change in the financial system of the country.

Senator Reed has mailed to the Democratic newspapers of the state a letter fully explaining his position, a copy of which was received by the Journal yesterday and, in response to his request, it appears elsewhere in this issue.

It is exceedingly easy to criticize public officials, and it is a pastime often unjustly indulged in by newspaper writers.

It is a piece of real news to the Journal to learn that the currency bill was born on Wall street and originally intended to serve Wall street interests.

The country was under the impression that it was an "administration measure," having the absolute approval of the president.

As a historian, dealing with the bill, Senator Reed gives some startling facts in his letter.

The country asked and got tariff reform. It wants to go along with tariff reform, currency reform, but it wants a measure that will meet the needs of the people.

Senator Reed took the risk of criticism to be right as he believes he is right in taking time now to weed out the vicious things in the bill and supplying safeguards.

Senator Reed's letter deserves a careful perusal.—Hannibal Journal.
